

AETERNITAS press release - June 2019

Genre: symphonic metal

AETERNITAS created symphonic, melodic and catchy masterpieces. In their music the German band developed a modern symphonic metal with complex orchestral arrangements, grooving metal parts and the strong and catchy melodies of their male and female singer.

The previous highlight of the symphonic metal formation was the support gig for the SCORPIONS in Rüsselsheim 2017 at the Hessentagsarena.

AETERNITAS released their fifth studio album "Tales Of The Grotesque" in June 2018. The 12 songs of the album are all based on short stories and poems by Edgar Allan Poe.

In May 2019 AETERNITAS toured successfully with these songs as support for the Japanese power metal band Jupiter on their European tour.

Currently AETERNITAS working with pressure on the production of their sixth studio album, which will be released in 2020.
